Learning object

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

A learning object is "a collection of content items, practice items, and assessment items". The term was first used by the International Society for Technology in Education (ISTE) in 1994, though the concept was first described in 1990 by the Learning Objectives Working Group. It includes objects, information objects, intelligent objects, knowledge bits, knowledge objects, learning objects, reusable learning objects, testable reusable units of cognition, training components, and training objects.

Learning objects offer a new conceptualization of the learning process: rather than the traditional approach of teaching a subject, they focus on the delivery of specific pieces of information. They will typically have a number of different components, which range from descriptive data to instructional materials, practice, and assessment. A key issue is the use of metadata.

Learning object design raises issues of portability, and of the object's relation to a broader learning management system.

Overlaid on the painting is a search bar with the placeholder text "Προσθήκη ορου σαζήστησης" and a search icon. Below the search bar is a dark blue banner with white text that reads: "Ierapitres ar 58,775,759 mākslas darbiem, artefaktiem, grāmatām, video un skanu ierakstiem no visas Eiropas". To the right of the painting, the word "europeana" is written in a large, lowercase, sans-serif font. In the bottom left corner of the main image, there is a small text overlay that reads "Jung Room: The Artist's Wife and Child, Viggo Pedersen für Kunst". Below the main image, there is a grid of five smaller images with labels: "EKΘΕΣΗ" (with a profile of a person), "PIONEERS" (with a portrait of a man), "FREE TO USE IMAGES" (with a historical illustration of a person), "1914-1918" (with a group of people in historical attire), "ARCHAEOLOGY" (with a classical building), "ART" (with two people in an art gallery), and "MAPS" (with a globe). ΠΕΡΙΓΡΑΦΗ

Στο φωτογραφικό τύπωμα του Alfred-Nicolas Normand, Γάλλου αρχιτέκτονα και φωτογράφου, διακρίνουμε τα καμένα ερείπια κτισμάτος. Αυτό εράπεττες του μνημείου που έκτισε ο Λυσικράτης, ένας πλούσιος Αθηναίος, για να μνημονεύει τη νίκη του ως χορηγός (χρηματοδότης) του χορού εφήβων της Ακαμαντίδας φυλής, που κέρδισε στους θεατρικούς αγώνες των Μεγάλων Διονυσίων το 355/4 π.Χ.. Στα αρχαία χρόνια έφερε στην κορυφή του το έπαθλο του χορηγού: ένα χάλκινο τρίποδα. Στο μεσαίωνα ονομάζονταν «Φανάρι του Διογένη» από τη λανθασμένη ιδέα ότι στην κορυφή του μνημείου υπήρχε φάναρος, το οποίο η λαϊκή παράδοση συνέδεσε με τον κυνικό φιλόσοφο Διογένη, που σινάζοταν με ένα φανάρι τον «Διόφωτο». Άλγοι γνωρίζουν ότι την καλή κατάσταση του μνημείου την οφείλουμε σε ένα βαθμό στους Καποταΐνους μοναχούς που το διαμόλιξαν για 150 χρόνια, ενσωματώνοντάς το στο μοναστήρι τους που κάπκε το καλοκαίρι του 1821. Το μαθησιακό αντικείμενο χρησιμοποιείται στη διδασκαλία των Αρχαίων από μετάφραση Γυμνασίου-Λυκείου και της Ια... Περισσότερα

Επίσης, έχουμε τονίσει ότι είναι το καλύτερα σωζόμενο χορηγικό μνημείο στην Αθήνα και μάλιστα αποτελεί την πρώτη εμφάνιση και εφαρμογή του κορινθιακού ρυθμού. Ετοι μαθητές ανηματίζουν την πρωτογενή εικόνα το μνημείο και, όταν το επικαλύπτονται, δεν βλέπουν α' αυτό μόνο έντια «λέιμανο». # The role of postcards in World War 1

How far do postcards reveal what happened in World War 1?

 Ineke Veldhuis-Meester

Postcard from WW1

This activity asks students to look at the different ways the war is presented by the postcards that both soldiers from the front and their family and friends from home sent each other. These postcards enable them also to have a look into the daily lives of ordinary people. They mirror the mood of the troops and the nation; by matching the message and mood presented in the postcards with the phases of the war students can detect when the postcards are sent, and how they reflect the course of the war or what the home front should be told. Students will discover that postcards are also a propaganda tool like recruitment posters. Postcards can take different forms like drawings, cartoons, photographs and combinations of these; Students can get an insight in values and habits of the world of 1914-1918.

`[[ "info": "At the heart of good history teaching in schools is debate. History is not a fixed body of knowledge. Rather, it is a discipline that uses source material as evidence to form interpretations. Therefore, students need to learn to present their own views about the past and to learn how to persuade people that their view is worth consideration. They also need to learn in what different ways the past can be presented and how to evaluate attempts to persuade.`
